

Air Permits? EASYer Sailing Ahead

You asked for a faster, easier system

One that reduces redundant data entry, increases data accuracy, saves time on application preparation and submittal, and accepts online payments—speeding final permit delivery.

Coming soon:

Iowa EASY Air—DNR's Environmental Application System—a convenient, efficient way to sail through air quality permit applications—available as soon as December.

Less data entry

Existing data in the system will auto-fill into Iowa EASY Air, reducing data entry. Guided data entry and online tips limit application errors and missing data.

Saves time and money

EASY Air will cut down on internal handoffs and time spent collecting required signatures. Although paper is still available, online submittal is quicker and delivery is guaranteed.

Accurate data streamlines the process

Validated application data reduces errors to help industries submit accurate, complete applications. This decreases time spent on back-and-forth emails and phone calls with DNR.

Choose your payment method

Pay online by electronic check or credit card, or with a mailed-in check.

Quick applications, updates & approval

Data sharing between construction permits and operating (Title V) applications makes applying for or modifying permits a snap. Accurate applications speed up final permit delivery.

Emissions reporting

EASY Air will ease the task of inventorying and reporting emissions by automatically updating SLEIS as permits are modified or added.

Look to the future

- Stakeholder testing and continued improvements
- Adaptable to changing business needs
- Meets federal electronic reporting requirements
- Better customer service to meet evolving industry needs

Tips and help available
